COMERFORD MAKES ENGLEWOOD TEAM MISS TRAIN HOME

THEN JERSEY MEN

One Hit in Fast Amateur League Game.

Charley Comerford actually blushes when he appears in public, and there's no telling what he will do this morning when he sees his name in print. Charley is not used to appearing in public, so that the blushes are excusable, but unless he gets over the habit he is destined to blush and blush so much that tined to blush and blush so much that his face will be one great, big, red moon. That is, of course, if he lives up to expectations.

Charley pitched for the Crescent Athletic Club against the Englewood Field Club yesterday, and did so well that it took Englewood ten innings to defeat the Crescents by a score of 4 to 1.

Charley is a young man who needs an introduction to the public in general, but he needs none to the Englewood club, champions of the Amateur League. In fact, the Englewood champions were glad to see the last of young Mr. Comerford when dusk was falling over Ray Ridge yesterday evening, because he almost spoiled the whole afternoon for them, and as it was he made them miss the Erie's 7 p. m. train for the wilds of Northern Jersey, the last that pulled out for many, many hours.

Charley's identity need be concealed no longer. He is a young man who pitches baseball as a side line while pursuing a scholastic course at Philips Exeter Academy. Next year he may go to Yale, and will probably continue to study and will most certainly pitch if Frank Quinby catches him. Comerford is only a kid, but for nine innings had Englewood upside down, while he cross fired and spit balled and curved the leather across the plate. Then in the tenth inning, when his support he gan to wabble and crack. Englewood did insert a couple of hits, just enough to score three runs and win the game.

The Crescent team was juite a handicap to Charley, for as a mitter of fact he might have done better if he had no team behind him at all. Bad Jack Dalton and "andy Sides and Rosey Riddell made errors of one kind and another, which did not help young Comerford, but he kept right on pitching his best, and Englewood didn't score a run until the eighth inning. That run discounted a tally which the Crescents made in the fifth and forced the game into an extra inning.

"Tiny" Beckvermit was no surprise water.

The only hit he let the Crescents have was captured by Harold Howe-Childe Harold they call him—and just as such hits often come, this one happened at a most inopportune time for little Beckvermit. It followed one of two bases on balls that the Englewood pitcher yielded, and Ebeling, who had received that pass, was able to scoot home all the way from first because Buck Norton, the Englewood right fielder, floundered all over the lot in trying to gather in Howe's hit.

For a time it looked as if Beckervemit's fine pitching would be in vain because Comerford, to spite his fielders, kent getting better and better, but at last the break came against the New Moon lad, and Englewood inserted the wedges that tere out a victory.

Randy Sides, who has become portly with advancing years, seems also to have become most irascible. Randy

The two victories allowed Cleveland to break the tie that existed for the seventh place and shove last year's champions into eighth place. Cleveland was outbatted almost four to one in the first game, but made each of its three hits off Wyckoff count.

the fifth and forced the game into an extra inning.

"Tiny" Beckvermit was no surprise to the Crescents, so that the fact that he held the Bay Ridge team down to one hit and let them have only one run is not so big a feature by about three hairbreadths as the first appearance of Comerford. Beckvermit, despite his long name, is a pitcher of the first water.

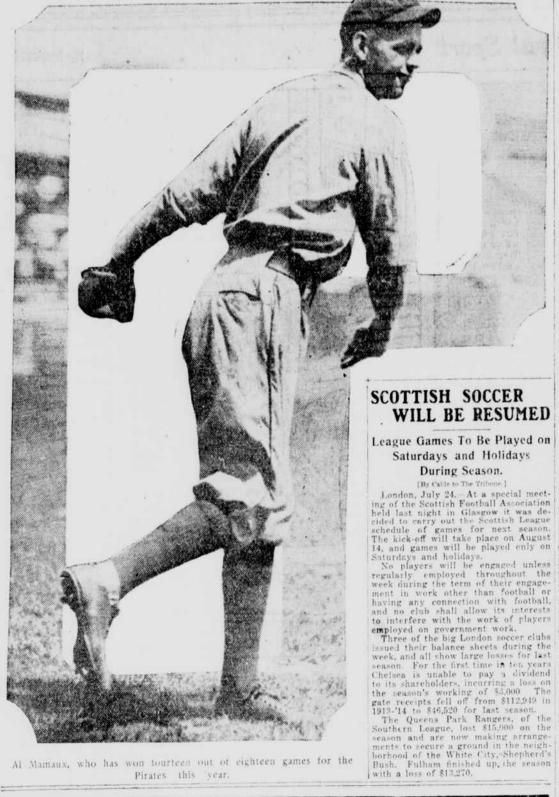

The only hit he let the Company of the second game, seven of ten moved hitting safely.
